CONTRIBUTORS

Elizabeth Hampsten teaches for the English Department at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. Professor Hampsten is the author of Read This Only to Yourself: Private Writings of Midwestern Women 1880-1919, and is editor of the journal, Plainswoman.

Michael Cohen teaches English at Murray State University in Kentucky. With Robert E. Bourdette, Jr., he is author of The Poem in Question and Engaging English Art. He is also editor of The Upstart Crow.

Debra Airheart teaches at Navarro College in Corsicana, Texas and is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Literature and Languages at East Texas State University. The subject of her Master's thesis was Laura Ingalls Wilder.

Ronald Ridgley is Associate Professor of History and Geography and Chairman of the Department of Social Sciences at Brunswick College in Brunswick, Georgia. His research interests are in western history and include his dissertation, "Railroads and the Development of the Dakotas, 1872-1914," and a recent paper on "Myth and the Gunfighter."

Louise Monfredo was a friend of the Great Plains Center and a contributor of poetry to the Heritage of the Great Plains. We honor her recent passing with two selections of her prairie poetry.
