

CONTENTS

TWO LETTERS FROM KANSAS: ECONOMICS AND ADVENTURE AS HOMESTEADING MOTIVATION By C. Robert Haywood	1
DEMEANOR AND THE SURVIVAL OF THE AMERICAN COWBOY By William E. Thompson and Joseph V. Hickey	9
LOREN EISELEY AND LOWRY WIMBERLY: COMPANIONS IN ALIENATION By Gale E. Christianson	21
Call for Papers	28
HERD LAWS IN KANSAS By Alvin Peters	29

CONTRIBUTORS

Robert Haywood is Distinguished Professor of History at Washburn University. He is author of Trails South on the wagon-road economy in the Dodge City-Panhandle region and "What Happened to Kansas?" which appeared in the summer 1986 issue of Heritage of the Great Plains. Dr. Haywood was the recipient of the 1985 Edgar Langsdorf Award for Excellence in Writing from the Kansas State Historical Society for his many historical articles and papers.

William E. Thompson is Associate Professor of Sociology and Chair of the Division of Sociology, Family Sciences and Anthropology at Emporia State University. He has published numerous articles on the Old Order Amish, ethnographic studies, and social deviance. He is currently coauthoring a textbook entitled Juvenile Delinquency: A Sociological Approach; Joseph V. Hickey is an Associate Professor of Anthropology at Emporia State University. He has published articles on West African cattle societies, cowboys and Indians. He is currently writing a book on a 19th century post office neighborhood in the Kansas Flint Hills.

Gale E. Christianson is Professor of History and Distinguished Professor of the College of Arts and Sciences at Indiana State University, Terre Haute. Author of In the Presence of the Creator: Isaac Newton and His Times and This Wild Abyss, published by the Free Press/Macmillan, Dr. Christianson has published numerous articles, including one, "Loren Eiseley in Lincoln: Two Poems and a Remembrance," in the Fall 1987 Prairie Schooner. His current research is preparation of a biography of the anthropologist and literary naturalist, Loren Eiseley.

Alvin Peters is the 7th and 8th grade teacher at the Greeley Elementary School in Kansas. A graduate of St. Mary of the Plains College and Emporia State University where Mr. Peters received his Master's degree in History, he has written on varied Kansas themes. At the 1987 Phi Alpha Theta district meeting he presented a paper, "The Fleagles: Fact, Fiction, and Folklore," and is currently working on a research project on the history of Kansas fence law.